

TESTIMONIAL

“My journey through peer mentoring has been an eventful one. I have had the opportunity to support people from non-profit organisations and people who run their small businesses.

A great way to begin exploring their journey was that I set up an introduction profile template to help me establish their direction for project growth. Quite often they came up with the same answer to the question what don't you want from a mentor? Their responses were “no negativity or harsh comments”.

Over the past year whilst supporting these clients, developing my knowledge and training through Voluntary Action Camden (VAC), it has increased my skill set through exploring, research and delivering project outcomes.

This learning and development has helped me to feel more confident whilst mentoring; delivering presentations to small and medium size groups of people and it has also helped me to understand the different learning styles for the mentees to achieve their overall goals for them to maintain sustainability within their business.
